

No Nuclear Power For Next Carrier, McNamara Rules

Two Pulaski Youths Killed In Accident

Defense Secretary Orders Immediate Start on Flatp

BY ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's hope for building a second nuclear-powered carrier has been torpedoed by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. He ordered an immediate start Friday on a carrier with conventional power.

The word was passed to the Navy a few hours before admirals and captains gathered by the hundreds at a dinner for their annual celebration of "Navy Day"—which really isn't until Sunday.

McNamara, exponent of cost effectiveness in defense spending, had been cool to the idea of putting nuclear instead of conventional power in carrier No. 67 for which Congress provided funds a year ago. But he held off on a final decision until Friday. When he announced it, the cost difference—at least $435 million for atomic versus $310 million for conventional power—wasn't emphasized.

Wants to Avoid Delay

Instead, he said his action was "motivated by a desire to avoid further delay," although he elsewhere mentioned cost differences.

He said the Navy had requested delay while it studied the possibility of using atomic instead of conventional power.

But now he has ordered the Navy to "proceed immediately" with construction of a standard carrier.

"Immediately" may not be immediately. The Navy so far has not even advertised for bids on building the ship, much less let a contract. This will take weeks or months.

No Ruling on Future Ships

McNamara left the door open to the question of putting nuclear power in future ships.

The Navy's battle for atomic power has become a major issue. When the forthcoming resignation of Secretary Fred Korth was announced by the White House on Oct. 11, newsmen were given to understand it was in protest over the then tentative decision against the atomic carrier request.

Subsequently, it developed that this was only incidental, if an actual reason at all. Korth told President Kennedy he was leaving on Nov. 1 because of pressing personal reasons. And in a subsequent statement, Korth denied that he had been requested to resign or that the resignation had any connection with a Senate investigation into the TFX warplane contract award.

McNamara, at the request of Korth two weeks ago, delayed a decision to order a go-ahead with the Christian Democrats once again to bring political stability to Italy.

If the Socialists decide to back a center-left government headed by the Christian Democrats, the decision would give such a government a majority in Parliament, and a five-month political stalemate and isolate the nation's big Communist party.

Nenni, who once won a Stalin Peace Prize, favors revival of the alliance he first made in February 1962 with Christian Democratic Premier Amintore Fanfani. Leaders of the party's extreme left wing want the Socialists to turn their back on the Christian Democrats and return to their oldtime cooperation with the Communists.

Nenni went into the congress apparently strong enough to win.

New Scare on Food Poisoning

Housewives Urged To Destroy Smoked Fish in Their Homes

DETROIT (AP) — The botulism food poisoning scare flared anew today with a federal agency's recommendation that housewives get rid of smoked fish products which came from the Great Lakes area.

The Food and Drug Administration in Washington Friday night urged homemakers to destroy any smoked fish products they have under refrigeration, provided the fish were caught in the Great Lakes or processed in Great Lakes area plants.

Reason for Advisory

FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick said he issued the emergency advisory because of the "deadly nature of botulism poisoning and the occurrence of seven deaths in the last few weeks from botulism associated with smoked whitefish and chubs produced in the Great Lakes area."

An advisory committee of scientific experts told the FDA, Larrick said, that 5 recent deaths in Tennessee and Alabama were attributed to one lot of smoked "whitefish chubs." The product was shipped to a Nashville, Tenn., grocery chain warehouse by a Michigan firm.

Processing Halted

H. J. Dornbos & Bro. of Grand Haven, Mich., halted processing of smoked fish after the shipment was traced to its plant. The company had said it planned to resume operations early next week, pending the outcome of laboratory tests of its fish samples.

Two other deaths—those of a

Italian Socialists, Christian Democrats May Renew Alliance

ROME (AP) — Pietro Nenni led his Marxist Socialist party into a fateful national congress today to decide whether to ally with the Christian Democrats once again to bring political stability to Italy.

If the Socialists decide to back a center-left government headed by the Christian Democrats, the decision would give such a government a majority in Parliament, and a five-month political stalemate and isolate the nation's big Communist party.

Nenni, who once won a Stalin Peace Prize, favors revival of the alliance he first made in February 1962 with Christian Democratic Premier Amintore Fanfani. Verbal Clash Over Cancer Drug Value

Made Issue in Cold War Regarding Medical Quackery

WASHINGTON (AP) — A verbal duel over Krebiozen's value as a cancer drug has erupted from a cold war over medical quackery.

Despite a decision by federal authorities that the serum is worthless, Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, Krebiozen sponsor, challenged the president of the American Medical Association Friday night to a debate on the drug.

Dr. Edward Annis, AMA president, declined, saying he would not provide a platform for what he called "any proponent of a fraud."

Concurrent Sessions

The challenge is tied to two concurrent meetings in Washington hotels two miles apart.

In one, the AMA and the U.S. Food and Drug Administration are sponsoring the second national congress on medical quackery — its announced purpose to focus public attention on quacks.

In the other hotel, an organization called the National Health Federation is holding a national congress on health monopoly — to reply and rebut the AMA and FDA.

At the quackery congress, Annis called Krebiozen "one of the greatest frauds of the 20th century."

In a telegram to Annis, Ivy denied that Krebiozen is a fraud and claimed scientific confirmation that it is effective in treating cancer.

A copy of Ivy's telegram was handed to newsmen by a representative of the National Health Federation.

In a speech to the quackery congress, FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick cited court records involving a number of federal officials, including its president and founder, Fred J. Hart.

The court cases all involved fines or prison terms for charges arising out of such things as misbranding vitamins and food products, distributing so-called medical devices, and a so-called cancer remedy, Larrick said.

It was the FDA that labeled Krebiozen ineffective against cancer.

Doctors See Progress In Liver Transplant

DENVER (AP) — Doctors are cautiously pleased with progress being shown by Mrs. Jeanne Marie Goodfellow, sole survivor of a liver transplant.

This is the 20th day since her cancerous liver was replaced with a healthy one taken from a man who had died a few hours earlier.

The operation was performed Oct. 5. Five earlier liver transplants—four in Denver and one in Boston—all ended in death.

A doctor Friday said Mrs. Goodfellow, a suburban Denver mother of three, is emerging from the most critical period.

Kidnaped Michigan Tot Found Alive in Ditch After 12-Hour Search

Widespread Hunt Launched For Abductor of Girl, 5

BY GENE SCHROEDER

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Tiny, blonde 5-year-old Michelle Moran, kidnaped from her mother's car at a shopping center Friday night, was found alive in a roadside ditch a few miles from here today.

The little girl, missing 12 hours, had been molested, a doctor's report indicated after an examination at a hospital.

A huge search meanwhile went on for Michelle's abductor, described by a brother of the girl as a dark-complexioned, slender young man wearing eyeglasses, a stranger to the boy.

Found by Truck Drivers

Two truck drivers on their way from Chicago to Saginaw found Michelle lying in a ditch near Michigan 78 near Williamston, east of here.

Hundreds of police and volunteers had been searching for Michelle. Police cruisers swept a 13-county area around Lansing, Michigan's capital city.

Dr. Irving Silverman examined Michelle. Silverman said Michelle had been "frightened and shocked." He also said she had been bruised.

Police Det. Lt. Larry Murphy said it was a case of criminal assault.

Michelle's mother, Mrs. Donna Moran, a divorcee, hastened to the hospital from her home, taking with her Michelle's favorite doll.

Sheriff's Car Stops

The truck drivers, Stanley Van Wagoner and Max Apsey, came upon Michelle about 7 a.m.

Van Wagoner told police he saw the child, stopped his truck, and walked back to Apsey's vehicle. Apsey also had stopped.

"I just spotted a girl," Van Wagoner said he told Apsey. "It must be the one we heard about on the radio."

At the moment a sheriff's car was going by the trucks. The sheriff's car stopped and came back, picked up Michelle and dashed with her to the hospital.

Hope Dimmed For Survival Of 39 Miners

BROISTEDT, Germany (AP) — Authorities abandoned hope today for 39 miners trapped in a flooded iron mine since Thursday night, but said four other men are expected to be saved.

The announcement by the mine management came after 11 relatives of the missing men, who had been keeping a steady vigil since the disaster, stormed the mine office demanding information.

Toil Through Night

The women broke into wails of grief before walking away, many supported by relatives.

Rescue workers, many of whom had toiled through the night, continued their search despite the announcement.

The management declined to give any other details but it believed the four are huddled in a chamber in the east section of the mine, with their escape blocked by water.

Some of the 39 men are believed trapped in chambers of the mine's water-swept gallery, as far as 300 feet below ground.

79 Men Escape

Seventy-nine men escaped after the dam burst, which spilled thousands of gallons of water into the mine from an ore-washing reservoir and sealed it at both ends. Seven more men were hauled out on a raft Friday night after the water level dropped to open up one end of the arched gallery.

The seven emerged soaked in mud but uninjured. They were taken to a hospital.

A search team penetrated one mile through the eastern section of the mine in a rubber boat, but radioed back that it found no sign of the missing men.

At the pithead, groups of relatives and friends grumly waited for news. This northwest German village of 2,000, about 12 miles from the city of Brunswick, gets its livelihood from the mine and some machine plants.

Laments for South Viet Nam

Younger Sister Advises Mrs. Nhu To Go Home and Stop Doing Harm

BY SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The younger sister of Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu challenged the fiery first lady of South Viet Nam today to return home and give up politics "before she does more harm to our country."

Speaking out in an emotional interview on the ninth anniversary of President Ngo Dinh Diem's election, Mrs. Tran Le Chi said sadly: "Now they burn themselves to death because they cannot touch with the people of Viet Nam."

"What is so terrible in this situation," she said, "is that the Buddhists do not protest violently — they have no arms."

"I am a Catholic," she said. "My sister should be their Catholic sister and ask them why they work for so many missionaries for so long will be lost because of the action of this family."

"I would like the Catholics of America to understand that this struggle is not between Catholicism and the Buddhists. Even the Catholics are suffering from this situation."

The Diem family, as well as of Mrs. Nhu, are Roman Catholics. She said that "the Buddhists are like you and me and it is not easy for a monk to give up his life."

"But when they have a feeling of injustice is too strong this is the only way that they can speak. The people of Viet Nam are peaceful, quiet and philosophic. Now they burn themselves to death because they cannot touch with the people of Viet Nam."

"We accept being unhappy and poor," she said, "provided the government shares with us."

She said this is why the Communists in South Viet Nam have almost succeeded in winning the hearts of the people.

Bitterly, she said the Communists would never try to kill President Diem or his brother, she said.

"They are too good for Communist propaganda purposes," Tran Le Chi said.

Position to Be Mapped Out Monday

MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin Supreme Court is to announce on Monday whether it will take jurisdiction in a test case to settle the running battle between Gov. John W. Reynolds and the State Senate over a governor's power to appoint state officials.

In arguments Friday, attorneys for both sides in the dispute urged the court to rule on laws governing a Wisconsin chief executive's appointive power.

Reynolds forced the suit by naming about 70 new appointees and having many of them sworn in. None has been confirmed by the Republican-controlled Senate.

Asks for Decision

Atty. Gen. George Thompson, a Republican, filed the suit and, Rov Tulane, an assistant attorney general, told the court a decision is needed so that state government can operate in an orderly manner.

"We don't know who the state auditor is," Tulane said.

Reynolds has appointed John Gibson to replace J. Jay Keliher who has held the state auditorship for 16 years. Keliher has refused to give up the post and Wisconsin now has two men claiming the job.

There also are four claimants to two positions on the State Conservation Commission.

Tulane's Argument

Tulane told the court that appointees named to fill vacancies when the Senate is in joint session are validly appointed and may serve until rejected by the Senate.

He also contended that the governor has no power to oust an incumbent officeholder, such as Keliher, unless the replacement is confirmed by the Senate.

"The governor must seek the advice and consent of the Senate," Tulane said, "and the split in political parties does require compromise and consultation."

Bloc Ignores U. S. Appeal in Attack On South Africa

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Brushing aside U.S. appeals for caution, the African bloc has moved against South Africa on three fronts with demands for action in the General Assembly, Security Council and Credentials Committee.

Convinced that enough pressure could force South Africa to abandon its race segregation policies, Ghana and other bloc members sought to sever all trade with that state, cut off its arms supply and reject its U.N. credentials.

The United States served notice Friday it does not intend to break off trade or other relations with South Africa.

The Africans and their Asian supporters believe that even if the nine-nation Credentials Committee approves the qualifications of Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's regime, they can get the decision reversed in the 111-nation assembly.

2nd Armored Division Moves Tanks, Trucks Toward Assembly Area

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Tanks and trucks of the 2nd Armored Division, whose men arrived in exercise Big Lift, rolled toward an assembly area near Frankfurt today, their smooth progress marred only by two accidents with civilian automobiles.

Two Germans were taken to a hospital after their small French-made automobile collided almost head-on with a tank on a highway near Darmstadt. The car was demolished.

In the second accident, an Italian-made compact car collided with a 10-ton truck near Mannheim. No one was injured.

The accidents occurred as the division finished its job of drawing heavy equipment from stockpiles and moved toward the assembly area in preparation for war games next week.

Start Appeal On Procedures For State Jobs

Candidate Charges Conservation Unit Obstructed Fairness

Post-Crescent News Service
MADISON — A candidate for the office of chief warrant in the State Conservation Department charged Friday that he was deliberately deprived of a fair chance to compete for the job in a civil service examination.

The charge was made at the opening of an appeal to the State Board of Personnel by lawyers for Kenneth Beghin, who ranked fifth in a recent test of candidates for the command of the Conservation Department's law enforcement division.

The Conservation Commission has been enjoined temporarily by a court order from filing the position pending the outcome of Beghin's appeal.

Charges Bias
Jerris Leonard, a State senator and counsel for Beghin, charged flatly today that the rejected candidate would not have been hired even if he had been certified as eligible in the civil service test. He said the conservation department managers had resolved against his employment under any conditions.

Leonard and S. J. Gavin of Madison said the Bureau of Personnel used veterans preference points in the testing in an illegal way and that at least two of the other candidates in the examinations were given an advantage in that they had assisted in the preparation of questions for similar job tests.

The appeal is from the procedures used by Carl Wettengel, head of the personnel bureau, who is being represented in the law suit by William Duffy of Green Bay.

Opening Statement
In his opening statement, Duffy said the Beghin allegations strike at the integrity of a civil service system that has been honored for half a century and is a model in the country. He said the warden examination was a routine one which had followed the methods of many years.

But Leonard maintained that "the warden service is on trial." He said he will show that the conservation department doesn't designate as depository banks strong leader with fresh ideas who would bring the enforcement division to a higher level of prestige and influence.

Beghin is now a subordinate employee in the warden service.

Flag Presented to Village Officials; Board President Fulcer Lauds Record

KIMBERLY — The village was awarded a state flag with inscribed standard as a reward for having achieved the greatest improvement in its summer traffic safety record of any Wisconsin city in its population class.

The award was made by Alan Willoughby of the state motor vehicle department and Stanley Lettas, public relations director with the Allstate Insurance Company, which donated the flag. Competition was for number of accidents, seriousness of accidents and frequency rate compared to the previous year.

Other winning cities were West Allis, La Crosse and Two Rivers. The competition, a traditional program conducted by the safety division of the motor vehicle department, was to determine which city, in each of four population groups, could improve its summer safety record to the greatest extent. The contest ran from Memorial Day through Labor Day.

Fulcer Speaks

In accepting the flag Alvin Fulcer, village president, said, "The success of any community is measured by its citizens' participation in the various functions of community life. It is with a great deal of pleasure, I, as village president, accept this honor on behalf of our citizens, board of trustees and police department."

The award will be a challenge to citizens not only to maintain, but to improve on the record," continued Fulcer.

Pointing to the increase in licensed drivers he urged more education and better participation in traffic just south of North Water Street. In concluding, he reported a car driven by Carl "Community On the Move" and Rogers, 16, route 1, Neenah, hit indicated it could more appropriately be stated, "Community Safety On the Move."

Quentin Williams, chief of police, notified high school students of the award won by the village, thanked them for their efforts in promoting traffic safety and urged them to continue to cooperate with police and others interested in safety.

Visits by School Children Swell Attendance; Show Ends Today

WAUPACA — Over 700 people visited the Waupaca Pepsi-Cola plant during the first three hours of the "Salute to Industry" display sponsored by the Waupaca Association of Commerce and Waupaca Industrial Development Corp.

G. H. Stordock, secretary of the commerce association, said the success of the industrial exhibits by the Waupaca and area industries is assured by the big attendance.

Helping to swell attendance Friday afternoon was a number of visits by school children. George Hendrickson, superintendent of schools, said the sixth, seventh and eighth grade classes and a number of the high school classes visited the displays.

President-Elect Of Bar Dislikes Poll by Phone

Referring to Calls To Members About Judge Qualifications

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Lyall T. Beggs, president-elect of the Wisconsin State Bar, has criticized the way in which the organization's executive committee decided to poll members on the qualifications of David Rabinovitz to serve as judge in the U.S. District Court for western Wisconsin.

Beggs, of Madison, said Thursday he was one of two members of the executive committee to vote against the poll, which will seek the participation of the bar's more than 5,000 members.

No Phone Calls
Beggs, who will assume the presidency in June, said the committee vote to take the poll never should have been taken through telephone calls.

Such issues, he said, "should be discussed across the table." He said he also had urged that the 32-member board of governors be asked to make the decision on the poll.

There were other criticisms of the poll, with William T. Riggs, a Milwaukee attorney and chairman of the county Democratic organization, claiming it was politically motivated.

Poll Challenged
The poll also was challenged by labor lawyers, and Jack H. Kalman, president of the he-boygan County Bar Association, said the poll would be "ineffective."

Rabinovitz, of Sheboygan, was nominated by President Kennedy to succeed the late Judge Patrick Stone. Rabinovitz is a Wisconsin's Democratic national committeeman, and represented the United Auto Workers in the long strike at the Kohler Co.

2 Questions
The poll has two questions. The first asking members if they favor a referendum on Rabinovitz' qualifications. The second asks that if the answer to the first is "yes" that members state whether they feel Rabinovitz is qualified or unqualified.

Francis Wilcox of Eau Claire, the current bar president, was asked to comment on Beggs' statement that Wilcox had asked him to change his "no" vote, and said the report was "not consistent with my recollection."

Conservation Unit to Meet

Explore Techniques For Improving Teaching Program

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A strengthening of the conservation instruction program in the classrooms of Wisconsin, long sought by the professional conservationists, is evidently underway.

A new Wisconsin Council for Conservation Education has called the first statewide conference of educators and others to explore techniques for improvement of conservation teaching in schools. This is ostensibly required by state law, but has lagged according to the admission of most of the parties concerned.

School administrators, supervisors and teachers have been urged to attend the session Nov. 2 in the conservation center at Poyette which is a part of the State Conservation Department headquarters there.

Resource Materials
The council was expressly organized with the backing of the state department of public instruction and the conservation department to provide resource materials for conservation teaching in the local school curriculum, and to assist in the preparation of methods and course organization.

Conservation program leaders who will address the Poyette meeting include L. P. Voigt, director of the State Conservation Department, L. O. Hembre, executive of the State Soil and Water Conservation Committee, and Orlo Miller of the Department of Public Instruction.

CHILTON — Adoption of Calumet County's 1964 budget, which passing for a total of 147. They totaled $806,047 in its original completed size of 16 passes. The draft, which was the original budget at $321,610. This includes county board, county unit, county and unaccounted surplus county funds.

The board is expected to cut some appropriation requests, thereby reducing the overall budget before it is adopted. The public budget hearing is scheduled for 10 a. m. Wednesday and final approval of the spending plan has traditionally come during the afternoon session following the hearing.

Proposed Budget
Listed in the proposed budget are $33,486 for county purposes and $22,364 as the county's share of the state forestry tax. Revenues from sources other than direct taxes have been estimated.

Annual Tour
After the budget has been set and adopted the board will make its annual tour of county roads and highways. This is set for Thursday and generally marks the conclusion of the annual session.

Before dealing with the budget the supervisors will be asked to elect two county officers and two school committeemen. Officers whose terms expire are Highway Commissioner Arthur Schnell and Veterans Service Officer Al Hertel. Terms are for two and four years, respectively. No changes are expected.

3 Year Terms
Up for re-appointment to three year terms on the county school committee are Leonard Suttner, Hilbert, and Gilbert Schneider, route 3, Chilton.

This also is the year for salary adjustments. The board has an unofficial policy of limiting salary negotiations to the alternate years preceding the expiration of the terms of elected county officials. This ruling applies not only to the salaries of the elected officials, as required by state statutes, but the hired employees as well.

Tigers Take Lead
21-0 First Period; 2nd Team Goes In
CHILTON — The Chilton Tigers scored almost at will Friday night downing Elkhart Lake 21-0 in a non-conference encounter on the losers' field. The Tigers are now 7-1 overall.

Tom Dhein, Tigers' star half-back, carried the ball only 10 yards and scored three touchdowns. Report by Trustee L. P. Blum-Dhein's talented running mate, Matt Lavey, was restricted to four carries because of the lop-sided score and picked up 29 yards for a seven yard average, used in apportioning taxes for the county municipalities to be maintained by the office of the County superintendent of schools.

Resolutions
Lavey drilled through seven straight conversions to run his string to 10 dating back to last week's game at Kohler when he hit three in a row. The Tigers experimented with the field construction and maintenance, goal, but Lavey's 27-yard boot hit the crossbar.

21 Point Lead
Chilton took a 21-0 lead in the first quarter before Elkhart county scored. Dhein capped a 54 yard drive on six plays with a six-presented for approval. The yard dash over left guard Dhein scored again, this time from 31 yards out, before Lavey cracked over from the two for Chilton to end Dhein's scoring domination.

More Scoring
Scott Wilson, directing the second string, engineered a 43 yard scoring drive. He hit John Schneider with a 29 yard pass and ran the last 15 on a quarterback keeper play.

The game's longest scoring drive was put together by the Tiger second unit. It carried 83 yards with Vernon Gasch getting 42 of the total and the touchdown from a yard out.

Final Try
Tiger Coach Ted Thompson gave his first until one final crack at the hosts and they immediately responded with a 78 yard scoring drive. Dhein went the last 30 yards.

Chilton picked up 393 yards overall with 311 rushing and 82 passing on four completions of eight attempts. Chilton had 15 first downs to seven for Elkhart Lake.

Bethany Lutheran Notes 22nd Year

Wisconsin Synod President To Give Anniversary Address

The Rev. Oscar J. Naumann, still members of the congregation, Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin Synod, will be the guest speaker at morning services on Sunday, commemorating the 22nd anniversary of Bethany Lutheran Church. The congregation purchased lots on W. Parkway in 1941, and began construction of a combination parsonage and chapel in January, 1942. This was dedicated on June 19, 1942. At this time the congregation consisted of 51 baptized members and 37 communicants (confirmed) members.

The observance will be the church's first commemoration of its anniversary. It will be dedicated Nov. 6, 1949, when an annual event according to congregation numbered 314 baptized members and 211 communicants. The mortgage on the basement chapel was burned in 1956.

First Pastor Leaves
Pastor Hallemeier moved to Green Lake in January, 1957. Pastor Koenig, who came from Sault Sainte Marie, Ontario and Michigan, was installed as the church's second pastor on May 5, 1957.

In 1957 the congregation elected a building committee, and authorized the committee and the board of trustees to proceed with plans for the upper church. The cornerstone was laid on Oct. 13, 1957, and the church, which cost $132,000, was dedicated May 18, 1958. The congregation then had 404 baptized members and 305 communicants.

The present membership is 850 baptized members and 560 communicants. The Bible School enrollment is 287. The present board of trustees consists of Wilmer Falk, Robert Gergen, Clifford Broehm, Orville Kositzke, Gerald Palmbach, Victor Mueller, John Jenkel, Elmer Knoener and Edward Koch.

Job's Daughters Plan 'Go to Church Sunday'
Girls who are members of Job's Daughters, Bethel 24 of Appleton, will observe "Go to Church Sunday" at St. James Methodist Church at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday.

The Rev. Delmar Hallemeier, the first pastor at Bethany Lutheran Church, was called in April, 1941. The congregation was organized Sept. 19, 1941, and is the present honored queen with seven voting members of Job's Daughters.

These included Lee Parker, Raymond Spangenberg, who are "Pitching Our Tents."

Benefits Apparent

Catholic Reforms May Be New Christian Era

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL

Protestant leaders say the Roman Catholic reforms being weighed at the Vatican Ecumenical Council could bring a new era of Christian partnership.

The benefits are already apparent for all Christians, says Bishop Fred Pierce Corson of Philadelphia, president of the World Methodist Council.

If the influence of Roman Catholic forces supporting reciprocal unity efforts is further extended, "the consequences for all Christians are incalculable," says Presbyterian theologian, the Rev. Dr. James Hastings Nichols, of Princeton Seminary.

New Spirit
Comments the Rev. Dr. Frederick Grant, of New York, an Episcopal Biblical scholar: "A wholly new spirit has come over interchurch and interfaith relations. May we never slip back into the old ways of separation, mutual distrust and antagonism."

The roundup of Protestant reactions was assembled in the October issue of the Roman Catholic Monthly. The Sign from Protestant delegate-observers now attending the Vatican's Council's second session.

Visible Sign
The Rev. Dr. Jose Miguel Bonino, director of the Evangelical Theological faculty of Buenos Aires, Argentina, said the council is "the visible sign of the most important new fact in the history of Christianity."

William Hubben, of Philadelphia, Pa., representing the Friends World Committee (Quakers), said the council marked the advent of a "new Christian era."

"The increasing Catholic interest in matters of Biblical scholarship should lead to a continuous cooperation or even to joint enterprises between the two great denominations," he said.

Express Hope
Several of the Protestants expressed hope that the council will take action to put the church of Rome firmly behind policies of religious liberty, and remove restrictions involving marriages between Protestants and Catholics.

"Vatican II now has the potential of creating a new spiritual revolution," says the Rev. Dr. Stanley I. Stuber, of Jefferson City, Mo., a Baptist, representing the Missouri Council of Churches.

The Rev. Dr. Lukas Vischer, of Geneva, Switzerland, of the World Council of Churches, said that "the same themes today occupy Vatican II and the World Council."

Sign of Unity
"This alone is a sign of growing unity," he added.

Said the Rev. George H. Williams, of Harvard Divinity School, representing the International Congregational Council: "The rent in the garment of ecclesiasticism caused by our old family quarrel has been left unsewn so long—such has been the historic sense of outrage and anguish on both sides—that the time of mending, as we all know, is going to be long."

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

(AP Newsfeatures)

SYMBOLS OF FAITH

Fifteen Miles From Panama City, deep in the jungle of Panama, one can view the remains of a symbol of man's faith. It is a chapel almost completely hidden by thick tropical vegetation. Discovered by an anthropologist two years ago, it had been lost in the jungle almost 300 years. Its history is vague, and one can only surmise its beginning and ruin. It has been suggested that it was destroyed by the pirate Henry Morgan on his way to sack Panama City in 1650. It is a small chapel, of Spanish architecture. Its founder must have been a man of great faith. It had carried him into a new land to serve not only his fellow countrymen there, but also the natives of this uncivilized area. The broken baptismal font near the chapel attests to his love and compassion. The altar of the chapel is still partially intact.

However the shrine might have come to ruin, it seems significant that God's covering of green has protected it over the centuries so that it still serves as a poignant symbol of the faith that knows no death.

Asian Religion Taking On Color of Politics

EDITOR'S NOTE — In Viet Nam, religion often takes on the coloring of politics. The "Buddhist crisis" of the last few months was developed into more than a matter of monks and pagodas. AP correspondent William L. Ryan, currently on a tour of Southeast Asia, cuts through some of the underbrush in this dispatch.

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—In a corner of a dimly lit barroom, a young Vietnamese whispers a contemptuous remark about the government.

His companion asks with alarm: "Are you a VC?"
"That's the way everyone refers to the Viet Cong Communists."

"No," says the first, with a grin. "I'm just a Buddhist." He is not really a Buddhist, but his reply points up what President Ngo Dinh Diem, his brother Ngo Dinh Nhu and their regime have done for themselves.

Diem has brought to real life the specter he feared most—a non-Communist opposition. The Buddhist affair has provided a rallying cause.

Buddhist leaders who oppose the government have been silenced or jailed. The only leaders remaining who can speak for their brethren are those known as the "tame Buddhists"—people who do not oppose the regime.

Like almost everything else in this mixed-up land, the Buddhist question is belogged by a cloud of contradictions.

Is this a religious issue? There are those who will tell you Buddhism is not a religion in the first place but a moral system. Buddha did not found a church.

The President is a Roman Catholic. His elder brother is archbishop of Hue, in central Viet Nam, where the Buddhist crisis began in May. The government dug up an old law at the time the Buddhists were celebrating the birthday of Lord Buddha, and forbade them from flying Buddhist flags. Only government flags would be permitted. Police went about Hue taking flags down. Buddhists staged a protest demonstration. The government broke it up, and—either from concussion grenades or police bullets—eight or nine persons were killed.

Even then, the government could have avoided the ugly crisis. It could have paid reparations to the families of those killed. It could have apologized to the Buddhists. It did neither.

In the precepts of Buddhism, killing of any living creature is a great wrong. Yet, an aged Buddhist priest seated himself at a busy Saigon intersection, let himself be doused with gasoline and set fire to himself. His flaming suicide became a symbol of Buddhist protest. Four more monks and a nun followed his example later.

It is difficult to say how many Buddhists live in South Viet Nam and whether they truly make up a majority.

Martin Luther Film to be Seen At Trinity

Lutheran Church to Observe Reformation Anniversary Sunday

The Reformation anniversary will be observed at Trinity Lutheran Church Sunday with special services, displays and the showing of the movie "Martin Luther."

The observance will stress the need for introspection, renewal and regeneration of each individual as it concerns the Christian faith, according to the Rev. I. B. Kindem, pastor. Worship services will be at 9 and 10:30 a.m. Sunday. Pastor Kindem's sermon will be "The King's Servants — Putting First Things First."

To comply with the Reformation emphasis, the theme chosen for the King's Men Crusade for the coming week is "Renew Your Confirmation Vows."

Fifth Week
The Crusade enters the fifth week of its initial stage. During the past month, more than 200 workers have called on all families of the Trinity congregation in this lay effort to stimulate worship in the homes as well as in the church.

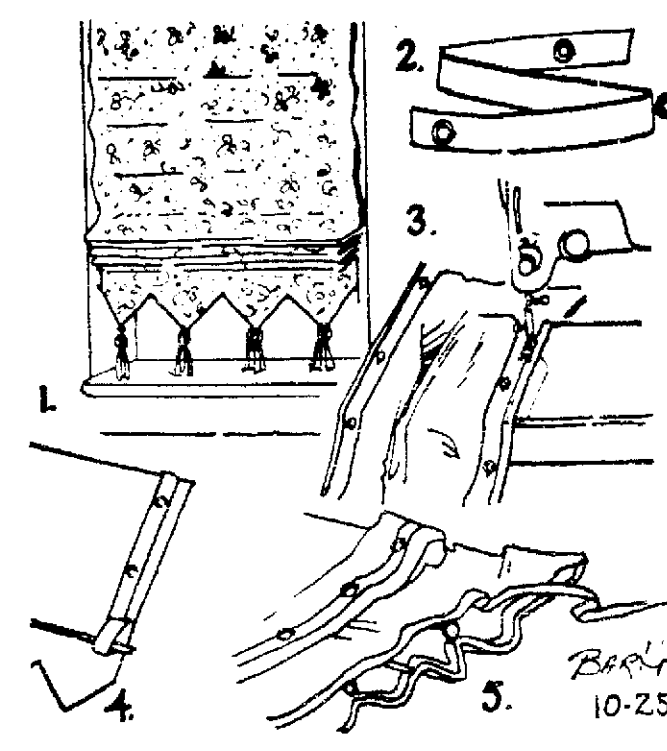

Church attendance has increased 30 per cent since the beginning of the campaign in September.

The King's Men committee is arranging a display of pictures of the past confirmation classes in Trinity's 48-year history. The display will be in the narthex of the church.

Future plans call for arranging panel discussions between representatives of the earlier confirmation classes and those of the most recent years. The purpose is an exchange of the mature adult opinions of the practical experience of living in the faith with the fresh academic religious knowledge, ideals and inspiration of the youth, according to church officials.

Martin J. Beaumont is chairman of the King's Men committee.

The movie "Martin Luther" will be shown in the Trinity Church chapel at 4:30 p.m. Sunday. It is open to the public.

SEAMS TO ME Roman Shade

Decorative window treatments shade with permanent folds already positioned. The fabric should be double the length of the window. Sew rings of tape, which are 6 inches apart, to a narrow facing tape every 3 inches (figure 1). Then insert cord through rings.

For a shaped bottom edge (scalloped or pointed as in figure 1), trace the bottom edge of the window. Draw your design and be sure to clip into the corners. Turn to the right side. The cord should be placed above the design. You can attach tassels to the point or scallops.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

(Copyright, 1963)

1. Cut fabric the length and width of window. Make 1-1/2 inch hems at each side. Stitch Roman shade tape vertically on each side as in figure 3, with rows in between spaced 12 inches apart. At bottom of each row allow an extra 2 inches of tape to hold rod. When applying tape be sure rings on each match horizontally across shade.

2. Take a small brass rod and cut it the width of the shade. Cover it with fabric to match the shade and attach the rod to the shade with the extra 2 inches of tape (figure 4) by folding tape over rod and tacking securely. The rod gives the necessary weight for the shade to hang properly.

3. Tie long strips of traverse cord to each bottom ring and up through the rings to the top of the shade. Stitch one side of the shade across the top on the wrong side of the fabric. To a wide board the width of the kitchen preparade, tack the other side of the shade. Underneath the snap-tape, attach screw-eyes for the traverse cords to go through. Attach the board to the window frame with angle irons and snap the shade in place.

Bring the cords through the screw-eyes on the board to one side. Adjust the cords until the shade rises and lowers evenly. Knot the cords together and add a tassel.

4. For a more formal Roman shade, use a different fabric and a different board. The board should be made of a material that will not warp or bend.

Your Problems

Ann Evens Odds Between Mother, Father, Daughter

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter Belinda who is 16 belongs to a club. There are 25 members, a 11 high school girls between 15 and 18 years of age. They do some interesting things and raise money for good causes. My husband and I always thought it was a worthwhile group.

Last night our daughter told us that they are planning a raffle. The tickets will sell for 25c apiece. The first prize is a date with Belinda—all expenses paid. My husband was absolutely horrified. He said no daughter of his is going to sell her time like a you-know-what. Frankie, I thought it was a rather ingenious idea and saw nothing wrong with it.

Belinda was terribly disappointed. She thought it was a high honor to have been selected as the "prize." We have decided to leave it up to her. Is it immoral as my husband says? Or is he being a square and old-fashioned as my daughter says?

Dear Mother: Sorry, dear, but I just evened the odds. Novel? Yes. But speaking strictly as a mother I wouldn't want my daughter raffled off as if she were a kewpie doll at a teen-show. Since the girls seem to be so full of novel ideas, let them think of something else.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A few days ago one of the women in the three, and declarer played dummy's king with a flourish.

With an even grander flourish East took the king of clubs with the ace. You could almost hear the drums and trumpets in the background. If you had a keen ear you could also hear the defense collapse.

East returned a diamond to dummy's ace, hoping that South had started with only 10-6 of clubs and that West's three had been from the doubleton 3-2 of clubs. If so, dummy's clubs would be no threat.

Cautious Play
Declarer was more cautious than East. He returned a low club from dummy, allowing East service and open house at the to take the jack. South could re-club the lead and return his last day.

If East had been less dramatic he would have defeated the con-Hillestad moved into the new tract by refusing to win the first club trick. Declarer's best con- tination is a low club from dummy. East wins with the jack sonage last January, and award- er wins only one club trick in- stead of four and has to work hard to go down only one.

the office mentioned that she had her warmly for her generosity a fairly expensive handbag and told her I appreciated her which she had carried only a few thinking of me. She then said, "I didn't mean it as a gift. I had in mind selling it to you." We were both terribly embarrassed and I suggested that she bring it in and I'd see.

This morning she brought the bag in and I used it. I thanked her and she said, "I'm glad you like it. I'm glad you're just a commercial to be considered a friend." Thank you—Bagless.

Dear Bagless: Generally speaking it's a bum idea to sell used articles to a friend. Rarely do both parties feel they made a good deal.

In this instance the girl should have made it clear from the outset that she wanted to sell the bag. Her failure to do this put you in a difficult position and it didn't do much for the friendship.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was very much interested in the letter signed "Keeper Of The Closet Keys." This woman wanted to know if she should tell her grown children that their father who had been dead 15 years was really a scoundrel, rotten to the core and not the fine man she had taught them to believe he was.

The reason? Well she was having an affair with some joker who promised to marry her when he retires in 1966. Her children did not approve of her traveling with this man since they are not yet married. Her attitude was, "Why should they criticize me when I protected their father's reputation for so many years? I'm an angel compared with what he was!"

I have some news for the foolish woman. Discrediting her dead husband in the eyes of his children won't make her look one bit better. And, furthermore, this guy won't marry her in 1966 or 1976 either—Wiser Now.

Dear Now: Thanks for writing. I hope "Keeper" sees your letter. She should throw those keys in the lake and forget where that door is.

Assembly of God Sets Open House

The First Assembly of God Church will have a dedication club from dummy, allowing East service and open house at the to take the jack. South could re-club the lead and return his last day.

Republican Party Is Achieving Real Unity; Has Uncontested Slate

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — There are some Republicans who are still reluctant to believe what their own ears are telling them about the prospects for organizing their party ticket in 1964.

There is now a fair chance that the party will field a slate of major candidates without significant or harmful contests in the primary elections, and it is quite possible that the nominations will be made without any contests whatever on the state ticket level.

If that develops, it will be the first time in many years that there has not been a substantial contest for one place or the other and it will at long last lend some credence to the talk about "unity" and "harmony" that falls so easily from the lips of the party publicists and organization spokesmen.

The decision of Walter Kohler, the former governor, against contesting for the senatorial nomination was not unexpected. A couple of weeks of consultation with old friends and a little listening to the telephone and reading of the mail after his interest in such a nomination became publicly known, and he made up his mind quickly enough.

As a guess, Kohler came to about the same conclusion that was forced upon Lt. Gov. Jack Olson earlier when he decided to withdraw from a contest with Warren Knowles for the governorship.

Koehler, like Olson, could have made a good fight, in a convention, or in the direct primary next September. But the question both had to face was: would such a fight be worth it, to themselves, or to the party? There can be very little doubt that the wounds left after the 1962 fight for the gubernatorial nomination cost the Republicans the state elections last fall.

The former governor's political career is now clearly behind him, in terms of elective office, which probably made his decision a little more difficult than Olson's. Kohler will figure in public life, according to his wishes, for a long time, but as a kind of elder statesman, if he will pardon the phrase. There must be some satisfaction, moreover, in having held the governorship for three terms, which gives him a distinction in the history of his state that has been accorded to only a handful of other men.

Olson's situation is different. He is young, and has just begun his career. If Warren Knowles is successful next year — and there is a significant consensus in the party that he is the strongest candidate who could be offered against Gov. Reynolds — he can stake out a strong claim for the succession some other day. Meanwhile, he is likely to win renomination for his present office with relatively little difficulty. Assembly Speaker Robert Haase at the moment is an announced candidate against him. But the logistical Olson from a gubernatorial nomination fight and dissuaded Kohler from contesting with Wilbur Renk for the senatorial nomination will ultimately persuade Haase to withdraw also.

THE TICKET

Thus by year's end the Republican ticket for all practical purposes will be fielded — Knowles for governor, Renk for senator, Olson for lieutenant governor, Thompson for attorney general, Zimmerman for secretary of state, and Smith for treasurer. There will be ample time for thorough campaign preparation, without the divisive and time-consuming interruption of a primary.

The ticket will have balance in essential respects, but perhaps more important, campaign savvy and experience in issue terms. It would not be an unfair exaggeration to say that it will probably be the strongest ticket that could be offered, and one of the most effective in many years.

A unified party with a good ticket were clearly required under the circumstances. To the politician it is a habit to say that every campaign is crucial. But it is literally true about 1964 for the Republicans. Beaten again, it will be extremely difficult to rehabilitate the party.

People's Forum

Empty House at John, Meade Public Hazard

Editor, Post-Crescent:

During a Sunday afternoon stroll we encountered a very distressing situation, which we feel demands immediate attention.

This one-time residence, of which we speak, is located on the corner of South Meade and East John Street.

We feel that this house is a hazard in more ways than one. Every window is broken; glass, paper and other debris is being scattered over the floors.

It is a shame that some children must spend their time vandalizing a vacant house when there are so many worthwhile things to do.

Both front and rear doors stand wide open, an invitation to curious children, a casual passer-by or someone looking for a party spot. There is evidence that such has been the case.

Any children wandering into this place could be severely injured falling on broken glass or putting dirty or sharp objects in their mouths as children sometimes will.

This house is situated near the Lawrence College Campus, where many people outside our City visit and go to school. What a fine impression they might have from a glimpse of this sad eyesore! Perhaps this is not the only vacant house in Appleton in this condition, but even one example as this reflects against all of us.

There is no evidence that anything has been attempted to rectify this situation. We humbly suggest that the doors be barricaded until further action can be decreed by the proper officials.

Our City officials are to be commended for the fine job they have done cleaning up other parts of the city. We hope that they will feel this situation worthy of their attention.

Wheat Sales All Over World Suddenly Assume Huge Volume

BY FRANCIS STILLY

The world's great staff of life—wheat—is being moved around the globe in the greatest quantities in history.

Russia, because of immense crop failures, suddenly found it necessary to buy upwards of 495 million bushels. Some of the Soviet satellites also are in dire need.

Russian purchases are expected to total nearly $1 billion.

Japan too has experienced a shortage because of poor crops and will have to increase its imports from the United States, Canada and Australia about 50 per cent. The import total for the year will be 2.5 million tons at a cost of about $390 million.

South Korea is another country which will need a large quantity of foreign wheat. About a million tons, or some $55 million worth is due from the U. S., $5 million worth from Canada and a lesser amount from Australia.

Other large purchasers of foreign wheat will be India and Pakistan.

CANADIAN DEAL LARGEST

But by far the greatest purchase — and the largest transaction of its kind in the history of the world — is that just negotiated by Russia with Canada.

It calls for 240 million bushels or 6.8 million tons, at a cost of $500 million.

Shortly afterward, President Kennedy authorized a U. S. sale to the Soviet Union of about 160 million bushels, or some 4 million tons, which would cost the Russians around $250 million.

Russia's need evidently is a desperate one. It also turned to Australia for another deal which eventually may involve purchase of another 1.8 million tons or more at a cost of about $200 million.

As if that weren't enough, Russia also has gone to West Germany, France and Italy to buy the equivalent of 100 million bushels of wheat already milled into flour. The wheat came from the U. S. and Canada.

Russia not only needs wheat to cover its own large needs but apparently in addition to take care of commitments to East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Cuba. These commitments are believed to total about four million tons.

It has been reported that Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Bulgaria also are seeking to buy sizeable quantities from the U. S.

MANY AFTER-EFFECTS

Russia's wheat deals alone already have produced some weeping effects and could produce some important others. They include:

— A huge shot in the arm to Canadian economy.

— The possibility of even greater trade, including many other commodities, between Russia and the West.

— Perhaps a further improvement in East-West relations and a further reduction in Cold War tensions.

— A drop in the U. S. "balance of payments" deficit; that is, the difference between income and outgo on foreign transactions. This has been running about $2.5 billion annually.

— Possibly a propaganda victory, in which wheat deals could be held up alongside previous Soviet claims that Communism offers a better system for producing the necessities of life than the West's free enterprise.

— A tremendous outlet for huge U. S. and Canadian surpluses of wheat.

The Canadian wheat harvest this year was a record breaker — 720 million bushels.

The U. S. already has in storage enough wheat for its own use for the next two years, and this year's crop would be sufficient to meet needs for another two years.

Storage of America's surplus wheat has been a costly affair. The tab for fiscal 1963 is $290 million. Therefore any unusually large extra sales abroad would materially reduce this cost.

TALK OF COTTON SALES

Amid developments over the wheat, there was a call for authorization of U. S. cotton sales to Russia.

This came from Eric D. Hirsch, president of the Memphis Cotton Exchange. "The United States has a carry-over of about 11 million bales of cotton," he said. "It obviously costs the government a lot to store it."

There has been opposition in many quarters to sale of American wheat to Russia, on the ground it would be helping a potential enemy to strengthen itself.

In this connection, Hirsch commented: "I think we are kidding ourselves by saying we are going to hurt the Russians by not selling to them."

"To sell cotton and wheat to them would give a lie to Khrushchev's promise Russia under Communism would catch up with and then out-produce us."

Hirsch said he'd also be in favor of selling wheat or cotton to Communist China. He added, however, that he'd want "every bag and bale scintilled all over, 'Produced in the United States.'"

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman says U. S. wheat sales to Russia may boost exports to a billion bushels this year.

Shipments to Russia under the deal approved by President Kennedy would save the U. S. $200 million in wheat storage costs, Freeman said.

Mr. Reynolds' Road Program

Gov. Reynolds has had the embarrassing experience of hearing some of the men he chose to promote his ambitious highway construction acceleration program back away from their association with it even before some of the press releases issued by him were published in all the newspapers.

Several key men including the director of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce have hurried into print lately to say that they undertook to serve on a committee involved with the so-called "Project 66" with the understanding that they were to study and review it.

The Republican floorleader of the state assembly, Mr. Alfonsi, who was chosen as co-chairman of the sponsoring committee, has already backed away with a statement in which he declared his opposition to virtually every major part of the governor's program, and notably including its plan for a huge and unprecedented state bond issue.

All of which may lead interested citizens, whose tax liability and road service quality are involved, to wonder about what is going on.

The governor's original announcement of his "Committee of 66" declared clearly

On the Other Foot

The boycott of a day in school by more than 200,000 children in Chicago, primarily by those in heavily Negro districts, is an example of how not to improve relations between the races.

The boycott was in protest of de facto segregation in many Chicago schools caused by the concentration of Negroes in certain districts of the city. School officials have opposed an open transfer policy and have offered to transfer the honor pupils from overly crowded schools with large numbers of Negro students. We would rather disagree with either proposed solution since the answer primarily is to alleviate the overcrowding and try to raise the standards in all the schools.

But whatever the solution is to be, the boycott reportedly included threats of violence to children who attended school.

During the efforts to end real segregation in southern schools, many northerners were appalled at the pictures of white men and women shouting epithets and threats at Negro youngsters. Blaming small children or even those of high school age for a United States Supreme Court decision was ridiculous and shameful. But using children as scapegoats in this struggle is not exclusively a white tactic, it seems.

Presumably the majority of youngsters who stayed away from school in Chicago were encouraged to do so or ordered to by their parents. Possibly this is a parental

Madame Nhu and Marshal Tito

Madame Nhu claims that the United States State Department tried to discourage her visit to the United States because it couldn't guarantee her protection. Her very life could be in danger, she says State Department spokesmen warned.

While some eggs were thrown at Madame Nhu's car and pickets met her on several campuses, Marshal Tito almost was physically attacked by Yugoslav exiles.

All of this points up the difficulties that face the United States when various unpopular people visit us. As a refuge for that it was intended to "support" the legislation which will be on the legislature's calendar when it reconvenes Nov. 4.

The governor is understandably anxious on this point. Achievement of this vast undertaking will be a considerable feather in his cap, when he runs for re-election on a record which is otherwise largely dominated by a story of fiscal emergencies and struggles about high taxation policies.

Yet we may be permitted a doubt that this extensive legislation with its extraordinary financing scheme can be put through the legislature in the probably short session that will be held next month, either as a matter of practical political procedure, or as a matter of public policy. This legislation has not yet had a hearing. It has had comparatively little public discussion and explanation, in part because the governor brought it in late in the regular legislative session of this year. Precedent indicates that on such fundamental decisions the people of Wisconsin like to have time for reflection and full understanding. No previous legislative act to beef up the highway construction budget was ever achieved with less than a year of public preparation, and often a longer period was involved.

prerogative. But the threats to children, both black and white, who wanted to attend school is indefensible.

Negro leaders in Chicago—and in some other northern cities — in seeking equal rights have all too often begun to translate those rights into special privileges. This is, in fact, part of a country-wide discussion recently brought out in a national magazine as to whether Negroes should be given such privileges to make up for the years of second class citizenship and help them catch up to white Americans. This argument has developed as studies have indicated that Negro youngsters are further behind in school, that the incidence of violence, disease and slovenly living is higher among Negroes and that some of the reasons for job discrimination is that many Negroes are less prepared educationally and emotionally for higher level occupations.

But whatever validity arguments in favor of special privilege have, they do not include the right to threaten children whether they are white or black. Shifting white children to schools they do not want to attend merely to equalize the racial ratio is no solution at all to the alleged results of de facto segregation. And threats of violence to children who do not agree is an indication that there is a basic lack of understanding of law and order among those who make the threats—or condone them.

the dissident, the expelled, the exiled and the wronged, the United States must expect a number of people who seek revenge. There are not many Buddhists over here to really threaten Madame Nhu. But there are quite a number of anti-Communists whose families may have undergone terror under Red rule.

At any rate, if the State Department really did warn Madame Nhu, its words must have come back to haunt it last week. She would have been easier to protect than Tito.

The Kennedy Round of Tariff Talks

For the first time in American history, almost the entire United States tariff list will be subject to reduction in the global trade negotiations between this country and the European Common Market scheduled to start early next year. It is the first time the U. S. has ever approached a tariff negotiation by throwing the whole list of import duties "on the block."

President Kennedy so notified American industry this week. Businessmen will have an opportunity in hearings starting Dec. 2 to plead their individual cases and to seek to have certain items excluded from the negotiations. But indications are they will have to present a strong case to have any chance of success.

In the forthcoming negotiations the President has been armed with authority from Congress to reduce American tariffs by as much as 50 per cent if we can win similar concessions from the Common Market.

The negotiations are scheduled to begin on May 4 in Geneva. By that time the President will have determined what products, if any, the United States will put on its reserve list but both we and the Common Market already are committed in principle to keep the reserve lists to a minimum.

The discussions are bound to be protracted ones, but when they are finally concluded they will have a great bearing on the future of trade relations between this country and Europe.

Unionists Urged to Rally Votes

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Oct. 22, 1863.

If Wisconsin fails to join her voice with that of her sister loyal States, it will be due solely to the supineness of her Union men.

The magnificent successes in Maine, California, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Iowa, giving new strength and heart to soldiers in the field and to the friends of free institutions everywhere, while blasting the fondest hopes of traitors everywhere, were only achieved by systematic and determined work.

The results in Ohio are largely attributable to the exertions of business men who ordinarily take no active part in elections. They closed their places of business: they went to the polls: they not only voted, but they stayed and worked for their Union tickets until night, giving "one day to their country."

A Japanese tank corps rumbled into Canton, China, that day with no opposition. Hundreds of thousands of Chinese were reported fleeing the area. The Japanese overland offensive movement had started Oct. 12 more than 100 miles away.

Mrs. James B. Wagg, Appleton, was in charge of the club institute at Oconto for the Eighth District, Federation of Woman's Clubs.

Various editors of the high school newspaper at Little Chute, The Voice, included Dorothy Mae Heesakker, editor-in-chief, Norbert Kilsdonk and Gordon Lamers, associate editors, Ursula Van Roy, Lucile Timmers, Richard DeBruin, Urban Van Boxtel, Francis Schneider and Vivian Bevers.

Mrs. Walton Cooper and Mrs. Frank Charlesworth were elected co-chairmen of Circle Martha of Brokaw Memorial Methodist Church, Kaukauna. Co-chairmen of Circle Esther were Mrs. Malcolm Jacobson and Mrs. Ezra Terry. Mrs. Melvin Burkhard and Mrs. Grant Whitman were named program chairman of the circle Hamilton.

Movie Business Boom Noted in Minneapolis

Exhibitors Gleeful Over Long Runs, Say Films Can Beat All Competition

BY JINGO
There's good news from the exhibitors of film fare who are going so far as to predict they've "got television licked."
The specifics creating this happy cry come from Minneapolis where five attractions are hanging on to moviegoers like fly paper over a freshly frosted cake.
The exhibitors not only are gloating over beating TV, but are predicting that they can beat any other entertainment competition, including big league baseball.
The five attractions doing the trick are "How the West Was Won," "Cleopatra," "Irma La Douce," "Thrill of It All" and "Great Escape."
It's unusual when more than one film can hold on for any length of time, but at the time of the report this quintet had runs ranging from a long 32 weeks to nine weeks.
In this connection, it's further pointed out that the local public is showing itself perfectly willing to shell out larger amounts of money for pictures it wants to see — the admission scales are so much higher than in the pre-TV days. There's a $3.50 top for one film, $2.50 for another and $1.50 otherwise.
In reference to big league baseball, despite the fact that the Minneapolis exhibitors think they're beating it, Hollywood is making sure the world gets to see what its home town boys did to the bankers' boys back East.
A Cinemascope feature on the World Series between the Dodgers and the Yankees will be made for 20th's Movietown Digest. It is very likely that the movie-going public will be just as happy to watch on the big essary to replace a dead cell, then we have "cancer." That is why, at first, a lump or growth develops. (However, not all growths or tumors are cancerous.)

Eventually so many cells appear that there is not enough nourishment to support them. That is when the voracious cancer cells start robbing the healthy ones of the body.
The worst trait of cancer — this unlimited cell division — is that once begun, it can spread. A "benign" tumor doesn't sit above or hold anything spread. A malignant one, on the other hand, spreads. One specialist in cancer, does. So unless the cancer is removed by surgery, or damage caused by X-ray or radium, the growth continues until final death. — G.M.S.

Woody Allen Adds Fun to Hootenanny

BY TV SCOUT
6:30-7:30 (Channel 11) — Hootenanny lets Woody Allen loose and this monologue is funny. Musical highlights: The Chord Mitchell Trio, Leon Bibb, Jo Mape and Mike Settle duet and The Big Three.
6:30-7:30 (Channel 2) — Barbara Heller comes into her own on The Jackie Gleason Show and she could be this season's big comedy discovery. She does bits from her night club act and teams with Jackie for a Russian ballet spoof.
6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — The Lieutenant is pure soap opera — so pure that it floats off in virtuous bubbles. The problem for Gary Lockwood is the bored, restless wife (Ina Balin) of another young officer.
7:30-8 (Channel 2) — Phil Silvers, on The New Phil Silvers Show, has fun in one scene, when he visits the Harvard Club. Otherwise, this is the same old routine. Phil is wooed by another company, but he suspects the representative of being a phony.
8-9 (Channel 2) — The Defenders turns to medical malpractice, a theme frequently worked over on Kildare, Casey, et al. On this show, the subject is disposed of logically, rather than emotionally, with the result that the ending (in contrast to Casey's recent two-parter) is relatively undramatic. The case involves a man who died on the operating table during minor surgery.
8-10 (Channel 4-5) — Saturday Night at the Movies presents the 1957 film of the African Mau-Mau war, "Something of Value." Rock Hudson and Sidney Poitier are on opposite sides, with Dana Wynter as Hudson's wife.
9-10 (Channel 2) — Gunsmoke lets you follow the short and bloody career of a badman. Andrew Prine plays Elmo Sippy, who starts out by stealing $25 from a store cash box to pay a poker debt. This seems so easy to him that he gets bolder and bolder and winds up killing five men.

Downtown Merchants Report on Fund Drive, Expect to Reach Goal

A total of $5,105 has been raised in the Downtown Appleton Retail Association fund drive, W. A. Close, general drive chairman reported. It is expected the goal of $7,000 will be reached, he said.
Following a kick-off breakfast a solicitation of College Avenue merchants pushed the campaign into its final phase.
The Downtown Retail Association, a division of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, plans to use the funds for an expanded Christmas program, promotional events, special projects and administration costs.
A final report meeting will be held Oct. 30.

Broadway Faces Run of 'Bad Weather'

BY WILLIAM GLOVER
NEW YORK (AP)—Broadway is having weather trouble.
A trend to titles about climate began earlier this week with "A Rainy Day in Newark," which proved a soggy comedy that is going to close tonight.
Now comes "110 in The Shade," a musical of drought and romance that is very tepid fare. It opened Thursday night at the Broadhurst Theater. At best it is an artistic near miss.
N. Richard Nash has adapted the situation from his own White Wax exhibit of a half-dozen seasons ago, "The Rainmaker."
Inga Swenson brings lilting loveliness to the role of the girl who fears she'll be a spinster, but is up against an impossible characterization. One song has her larking with the confidence of a well-adjusted village belle, and the next dumps her into the depths of despair. As the hero, Robert Horton is something of a vocalizing stick.

Although "110 in The Shade" strives hard it persistently falters. Too bad.

Illinois Defeats Bruins With 4th Period Comeback

Nationally Ranked Illini Mount Fourth Period Drive on Coast

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Illinois supplied the punch and UCLA earned in a desperation come-from-behind final-quarter drive.

Illinois built up a 10-0 lead at halftime of the intersectional battle in Memorial Coliseum Friday night but suddenly the Illini found themselves trailing 12-10 as the four-time beaten Bruins countered with two touchdowns in the third period.

Prestige and national rating in dire distress, Illinois' ground-crunching Jim Grabowski and Sam Price mounted a 14-play series that consumed 62 yards and the winning touchdown.

Grabowski, 207-pound sophomore from Chicago, dived over the heap for the final yard and wound up the evening with a net rushing mark of 104 yards.

Yards Shy

Just three yards shy was his 190-pound sophomore teammate, Price.

UCLA had but one weapon against the bulkier Illini line—the pass, an instrument Illinois failed to display. Quarterbacks Larry Zeno and Mike Hafner gained 172 yards via the air to the enemy's 44.

Fact and Fiction Collection of Berraisms Cited by AP's Reichler

BY JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP) — They used to laugh when you said he said. "He just made the wrong mistake."

They used to go into hysterics over his naive remarks.

Because he is short and stumpy, built like a fire hydrant they said he didn't look like a general manager. Roy Hamey arose from his chair and remarked, "Well, Yogi, I guess we've reached a stalemate. "Never mind the budget stuff," Yogi, "let's talk from his shoulders with no neck at all, they called him a freak. money."

Because of his naivete and difficulty in expressing himself because of limited formal education, they kidded him, told Frank Scott, the team's travel anecdotes about him and attributed statements to him that bordered on the ridiculous.

These remarks became known as Berraisms. Most of them were the products of witty journalists.

Fact and Fiction

Here are some of the more legendary Berraisms, some fact, others fiction:

Casey Stengel once told of the day he asked Berra what he would do if he found a million dollars. Without batting an eye, Yogi replied:

"If the fellow who lost it was poor, I'd return it."

Berra's first roommate on the Yankees was Bobby Brown, a highly intelligent young man who was preparing for a medical career during the off season. One off day both were in their hotel room absorbed in their favorite off-the-field pastime, reading a comic book. Berra closed his book, looked up and asked, "How did your come out?"

Once a Yankee outfielder threw to the wrong base, paving the way for a winning run. Questioned after the game by a newspaperman, Berra stoutly defended the player. "Oh, those things happen once in a while," he said. "He just made the wrong mistake."

Once Berra was having a salary discussion with the Yankee front office and finally assistant general manager Roy Hamey arose from his chair and remarked, "Well, Yogi, I guess we've reached a stalemate. Neenah Keeps M-E Lead

The kicker penalty moved them to a first down on the Kimberly 33-yard stripe as the first period ended. Two plays into the second frame Deidrich picked off a Kroner Aerial and moved to the Kimberly 49.

The Rockets moved for two first downs before Kimberly settled down and halted the drive on their own 14-yard line. A 5-yard penalty moved them back to the nine and once again they were unable to move. O'Brien took the subsequent punt on the 50 and moved to the Kimberly 40 yard line from where the lone touchdown drive started.

With Pennau and O'Brien alternating on running plays and Diedrich hitting Bill Falk on a 10-yard pass the Rockets moved deeper into Kimberly territory. Bliss then entered the game and on the first carry went wide around right end to score.

Kimberly was unable to move after the kick-off and was forced to punt. After an exchange of 15-yard penalties the Rockets found difficulty getting a drive underway and time ran out with them near the 50-yard stripe. Kimberly made a good only two first downs the first half, one by penalty, while the Rockets chalked up five. Kimberly managed 32 yards on the ground and six in the air in the period while Neenah had 90 yards on the ground and 41 through the air.

Second Half

The Papermakers came out with a little more spark in the second half and taking the kick-off moved for two first downs on some strong running by Kroner and Terry Subert. The losers moved to the Rocket 33-yard stripe before the drive was halted inches short of a first down. After racking up one first down the Rockets were again forced to punt with Kimberly taking over on its own 25-yard stripe.

Clem Phillipsen, Wittman, Subert and Kroner began grinding out yardage through the Rocket line as Kimberly moved for four first downs before the third period ended. Kroner hit Gerald Wyngaard on an 8-yard toss in the drive. Kroner ran for 12 yards to the Neenah 7-yard stripe on the second play of the fourth period, but then he fumbled the handoff and the Rockets recovered to halt the drive.

Neenah took command and moved from deep in their own territory to the Kimberly 35 before losing the ball on downs. A beautiful pass from Kroner to Levknecht was nullified by a back-field in motion penalty and Kimberly was forced to punt. The Rockets were unable to move as the Papermakers fought desperately for the ball and punted with about two minutes left in the game. Starting on their own 30 Kimberly filled the air with passes, but time ran out. Kroner hit Phillipsen on a 33-yard pass. Wittman for 10 and Wyngaard for 12 in the closing.

Bowling Tips

BY DON CARTER AND MARION LADEWIG

A Hook Is No Snap

Should you throw a hook? Perhaps, if you are able to bow regularly, with an occasional practice session. A hooking ball is one that is rolling, rather than skidding as a straight ball does, and it will bring more strikes. There is no need to snap your wrist to obtain a hook. Merely set the thumb a bit toward the left as you begin your push-away and keep it in this position as you release the ball. The position of the fingers will then give the ball some extra turn and a hook will result.

Clinches Tie

In the Wisconsin Valley Conference, Antigo clinched at least a tie for the title with a 39-7 victory over Rhinelander. Antigo now is 5-0 in the circuit.

Don Lamb returned a punt 80 yards for a touchdown in helping North Fond du Lac to a 26-6 victory over Germantown and the Scenic Moraine Conference championship.

Dodgeville gained at least a tie in the Southwestern Wisconsin League with a 25-12 victory over Mt. Horeb. The winners have a 6-0 record.

Dave Hilbelink of Oostburg put on a one man show in his team's game with Sheboygan Falls. He ran the opening kick-off 90 yards for a touchdown and then scored others on runs of 19 and 1 yards. Despite his efforts Oostburg lost 20-19.

Waltman Shrugs Off Chance Of U. S. for Canada Cup Win

PARIS (AP) — Relief Walt—that's all changed. The American, a little known South African, has got to charge to can, shrugged off talk today about it.

Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer still would take the a tremendous amount by part-Canada Cup Golf Trophy and nering Player in the Canada said "No matter how well the Americans are playing, I'm sure we can take them."

Waltman, a 25-year-old former mounted policeman, and Americans have a great advantage. Gary Player fired South Africa tag over most others because into the lead in the team stand-ings at the end of the second day and round with a total of 277 then produce steely concentration when actually making the shot. Gary has got this ability. A three-way tie for second too. He's helped to build me up place at 278 with Canadians mentally.

Stan Leonard and Al Balding "There were times when I was happy to make a certain score Gary has emphasized all the time that you must play to time. That's what I'm doing this time. And there's nothing better than winning."

5-Hour Round

"That five-hour round yesterday was a big strain on me. It tie for the individual lead with a 36-hole total of 136. Right behind me were Miguel, Sota, Palmer, Nicklaus and Waltman. They have this gift of relaxing between shots. I'm just getting it."

Waltman joined with Player for this tournament after four shots in the lead if the threatening to quit golf three or four times because he thought come off yesterday. But I'm he would never hit the big time, convinced that we can take "Ever since we came here Nicklaus and Palmer now we have heard that it was going to be a one-horse race—with par. We're going out to smash the Americans the one horse," it — just like Nicklaus and said the dumpy Waltman. "Now Palmer."

Will See Today's Clash Nevers, '4 Horsemen' Re-Live '25 Bowl Tilt

BY JACK STEVENSON
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stanford's Ernie Nevers turned to Notre Dame's Elmer Layden and observed wryly, "I made two of my longest runs that day, both times chasing you."

His observations went back 38 years to New Year's Day of 1925 when the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame beat the Indians of Stanford 27-10 in the Rose Bowl, the only bowl appearance for a Fighting Irish team.

Now for the first time since that date, the Four Horsemen and some of the Stanford players met have gathered together on the West Coast.

Each of the group has passed the 60-year mark and each of the Horsemen is heavier than during the days when they actually comprised a pony backfield for the great Knute Rockne.

Maybe you can remember. Layden was the fullback at 162 pounds. Halfbacks Don Miller and Jim Crowley each weighed 154, with Harry Stuhldreher the 169-pound quarterback.

Mighty Small

Those were the men whom the late Grantland Rice called the Four Horsemen after Notre brought victory in that only Dame's 1924 team beat Army 13-7 — a name that caught on to bring lasting fame to a quarter that would look mighty small compared with some of the 1963 college backfields.

Today in California for Saturday's Notre Dame-Stanford football game, they are:

Storm Again Poses Threat To Coast Area

Moves Back After Leaving Florida For Open Ocean

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Hurricane Ginny, still a dangerous, unpredictable lass, romped near the North Carolina coast today after offering a brief reprieve during the early morning hours.

The erratic storm, which became a hurricane 90 miles off Cape Hatteras last week and then slipped southward to Florida's coast and back, headed out to sea shortly before midnight. But, resuming its former hesitancy to keep a definite course, she shuffled in toward land early today.

Precaution Urged

In an early advisory, the Weather Bureau estimated her center to be about 60 statute miles southeast of Wilmington.

Ginny was expected to move generally toward the northeast, shifting to east-northeast. The Weather Bureau warned that all precautions should be continued along North Carolina's southeastern coast.

"It is expected that the east-northeastward movement away from the coast as forecast earlier will be resumed later this morning," the Weather Bureau said. "However, the small-scale oscillation in the track has kept the area of gales near the beaches in southeastern North Carolina and these may persist, and spread toward Hatteras today."

Beach Houses Empty

Ginny threatened the Carolinas' coast most of Friday before shifting direction and heading away from the mainland.

Late Friday there was a general scramble from Charleston, S.C., to Morehead City, N.C., as residents prepared for her visit.

Many beach houses along the coastline were evacuated and residents went to storm shelters set up in armories, schools and churches. A Civil Defense official estimated that 3,000 residents along South Carolina's Grand Strand resort area vacated their homes, 1,500 of them in the Charleston area. These were back home before nightfall, however.

Kalamazoo, Mich. couple—also were blamed on botulism Type E poisoning. But authorities said they never were able to find the source of the fish eaten by the victims.

The latest development from Washington was accompanied by announcements that Michigan officials seized stocks of two state processing plants and that Chicago Health Commissioner Samuel Andelman ordered stores and warehouses to be inspected and urged the city's housewives to destroy all such foods on their shelves.

The FDA singled out fish products that are packaged in sealed plastic wrappers and those that are sold in bulk without any wrappers. Canned products are not involved, the agency said.

Organisms in Samples

Michigan authorities said they found the organisms—clostridium botulinum—in samples of smoked fish from the St. Joseph Fisheries of St. Joseph, Mich., and Royal Snack Food, Inc., of Detroit.

Larick suggested to wholesalers, retailers, and processors that all smoked fish products now on the market and made from Great Lakes fish or processed in the area should be destroyed "unless it can be established with certainty that:

"The fish was heated immediately after it was packaged in a manner that would assure a temperature of at least 180 degrees Fahrenheit for at least 30 minutes.

"That the fish was frozen immediately after packaging and has been maintained continuously in a frozen condition."

Digital Control to Be Subject of Talk

The subject of "Digital Control Techniques as Applied to Process Lines and Paper Machines" will be discussed at a meeting of the Northeastern Wisconsin Section of the Institute of Electrical & Electronic Engineers November 7, 1963 at the Holiday Inn, Wausau.

The lecture, given by A. N. Schiff, manager of paper applications engineering, Reliance Electric and Engineering Company, Cleveland, Ohio, will be accompanied by slides.

Attending besides members of the northeastern section which includes leading electrical engineers in this part of the state, will be other engineers and scientists who are interested in the subject.

Paper Company Begins Program To Aerate River

OCONTO FALLS — Scott Paper Company has inaugurated a crash program to restore dissolved oxygen of the Oconto River to normal levels at the earliest possible moment, according to D. J. Dughie, general manager of Scott's Wisconsin operations.

"All our full-strength liquor is now being used instead of going into the lagoon," Dughie stated. "And we expect that by early next week we shall have large scale equipment re-aerating the river to contribute additional dissolved oxygen. Meanwhile we are praying for heavy rain, which is the only thing that can flush out of the river the after-effects of the sulphite liquor that got into it when the lagoon failed."

Skindivers blocked off the hole deep inside the lagoon on the day the leak was discovered, Dughie pointed out. A working crew completed permanent repairs on the exterior wall three days later and the lagoon is back in working order.

attorney representing Reynolds' appointees, asked the court to permit the governor to intervene in the case.

He said that if confirmation is required, the Senate can thwart the will of the governor by simply refusing to act.

Schmitt contends that even while the Senate is in session the governor can appoint a replacement and the appointee can serve unless he is rejected by the Senate.

"If not," Schmitt said, "the Senate can sit and not act at all and thereby tie the governor's hands."

"One house of the Legislature has taken the power to make a six-year term an eight or 10-year term," he told the court.

Tulane opposed the motion to allow the governor to intervene on grounds it would only raise new issues and that the governor is not a necessary or proper party to the suit.

Conservation Fight
Reynolds has named Martin Hanson of Mellen and Milwaukee Alderman Harold J. Janowski to replace as conservation commissioners Charles Smith Sr. of Wausau and Guido Rahr of Manitowish whose terms expired in July.

W.P. Aberg of Madison, an attorney for Smith and Rahr, joined in asking the court to take jurisdiction.

Republican senators have decided they will not confirm successors to Smith, Rahr and Keliher. And in the last two sessions, the GOP-controlled Legislature has bypassed any adjournments in favor of taking extended recesses. Republican leaders have used the recess device in an attempt to head off appointments by the governor.

Michelle said Moran, a controller for a Grand Rapids Industrial firm, convinced them he had no knowledge of the abduction.

Michelle's brother, Frank, 8, gave this chilling account:

Abductor Slaps Child
Michelle and Frank huddled together on the back seat as the man opened the door. "He told her to 'come here' again," the boy said.

The stranger then slapped Michelle. She lay down on the seat and tried to hide behind two shopping bags.

"He got inside the car and pulled her arm and made her get outside with him," Frank said.

As he led her toward his car, the man's manner changed. He

The house was in flames when he drove into the yard. The officer walked around the building and could hear coughing from inside.

Kleeman smashed a window, crawled inside and managed to drag both men to safety before the house was destroyed by the fire.

Sheriff Says Pay Hike Possible Soon

Spice Meets With Committee to Discuss Department Salaries

Sheriff Calvin Spice said Friday he felt that there was some chance that salary increases for his department will be forthcoming in November.

Spice, members of the county's courts and administration committee and the county's police and traffic committee met Friday afternoon with the civil service and salary committee to discuss pay rates in the two departments.

Civil Service and Salary Chairman John Schreiter told the committee members that the pay increases sought in both departments, amounting to $50 per month per man, "will be considered" but he made no commitments as to what amounts may be asked in resolutions.

Will Consider Raises

Spice said he was informed by Schreiter after the meeting that the civil service and salary committee will consider "substantial" raises for sheriff department personnel.

Spice said he did not know what consideration was to be given the traffic department.

Increases Possible

It also was learned Friday afternoon that Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer has requested a salary increase to $10,000 per year for his office, an increase of $1,300 per year for his assistant, James Bayorpeon and a $600 per year increase for a legal stenographer.

Schaefer sent the salary requests by letter to the civil service and salary committee, but said he has not been asked to meet with the committee. Schaefer received a $500 per year salary increase in 1962 and his salary is $7,500 per year, the lowest salary for a district attorney in 11 counties.

Pay Study in Progress

Schreiter told committee members his committee was engaged in a study of "depressed" areas of pay within the county employ and he expected to complete the study in a year. He said that a $50 per month raise per man was not "responsible" and he personally "could not go along with it." Schreiter said the county faced "critical problems" in wage scales and an adjustment "would take time."

Alvin Woehler, county business administrator, told committee members that Schreiter's committee was attempting to define "depressed" areas in its study. Woehler said he suggested to the civil service and salary committee that it make recommendations "as it progresses on pay studies" and not wait an entire year until the study is completed.

For a rule of thumb, Schreiter said he has been using wages per month of under $350 as "depressed."

Pessimism Over World's Food Situation Cited

UW Professor Says Population Growth Must be Curtailed

BY RAY PAGEL
Post-Crescent News Service
MADISON—Pessimism about the future world food situation was expressed here Friday by one of the nation's best known agronomists.

Dr. Henry L. Ahlgren, associate director of agricultural extension at the University of Wisconsin, weighed cropland potentials against projected population statistics.

"I hope I am wrong, but I have come to the pessimistic conclusion that there is very little basis to hope for a world free from hunger unless ways are found to curtail the population explosion," he declared.

Ahlgren addressed the concluding session of the 35th annual conference of the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture Co-operators. With 94 affiliated organizations, the council represents more than half of the state's farm population.

Though not mentioned by name, it was obvious that the National Farmers Organization was the target in a policy resolution adopted by the delegates. Farmers were warned to be alert "against efforts being made that may jeopardize their markets and their co-operations."

Adjust Production

Another resolution expressed a friendly but cautious interest in proposals to adjust milk production to demand through marketing allotments. Through study of such price programs was urged.

Ahlgren stressed the role of food in world history.

"Food always has been man's most important problem. If it is lacking, the instinct for survival takes over. There never was a time when there was enough food everywhere for everyone, and today the problem becomes much more formidable," he asserted.

It took the world until 1830 to reach the first billion in population, he said. Then it took 100 years to reach two billion, and only 30 years more to hit three billion.

"Experts say that at the present rate," Ahlgren noted, "the world will have six billion people by the year 2000. That is twice as many people as we have today."

Curtain of Hunger

He warned that the curtain of hunger is potentially much more dangerous than the iron or the bamboo curtain.

"For one third of the world's population today, the average recommended daily supply of 3,000 calories is readily available. But for the other two-thirds, largely in the world's southern areas, chronic malnutrition prevails."

"The best estimate is that the world's food supply will have to be trebled by the end of the century if all of the people are to be reasonably fed," the agronomist continued.

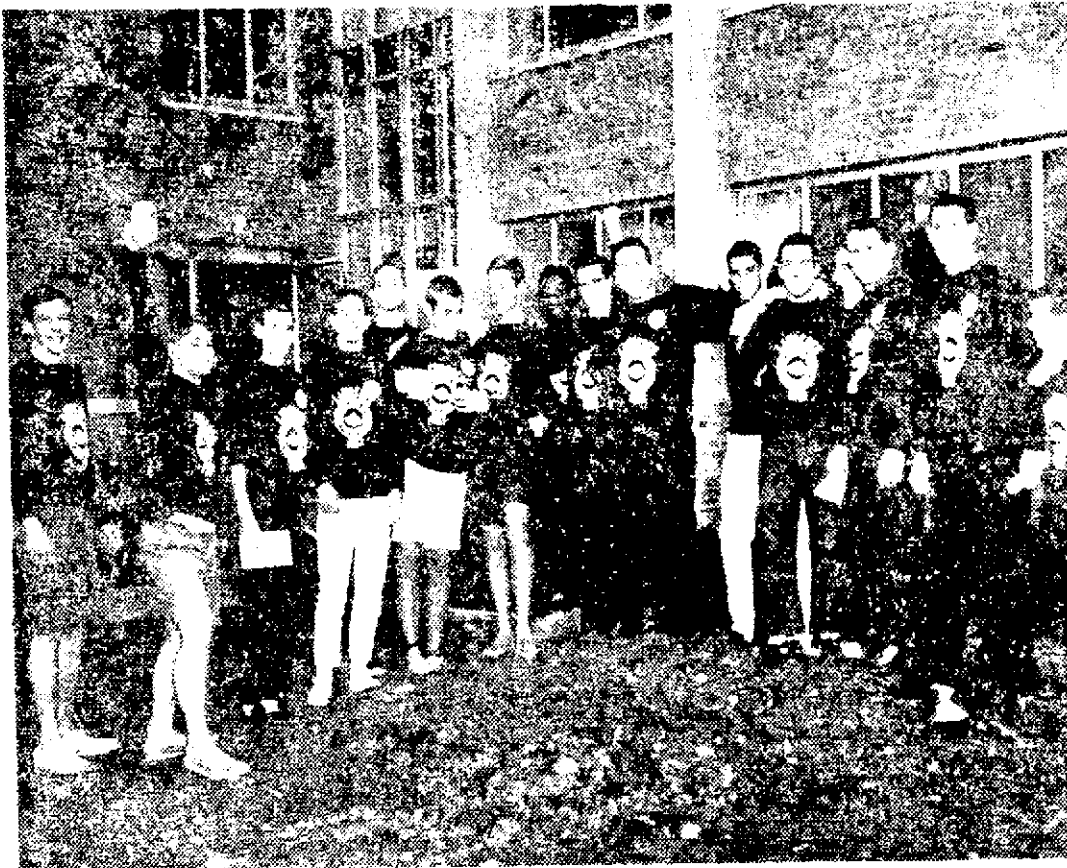

He pointed out that only about one-third of the earth's surface has rainfall sufficient to produce crops, and relatively little has been irrigated. Temperature and the condition and structure of the soil were mentioned as other factors figuring in the production of food.

"The earth's land area of 35 billion acres allows less than 12 acres per person today. Only about 10 per cent is suitable for the growing of food and fiber, so we have less than 12 acres for each individual share," Ahlgren declared.

"If the world population is doubled by the year 2000, there will be only six-tenths of an acre per person."

The Skit Ws All About Beowulf, but the legends on the wall were strictly 20th Century at the Lawrence homecoming convocation on Friday. As the sleeping Viking warriors disport themselves upon the stage, the banners in the background pay topical homage to the happenings of this week at the college — "Welcome Lawrence students and Downer girls." It refers to announcement made on Tuesday of the consolidation of the two colleges into Lawrence University.

The Gentlemen of Samuel Plantz Residence Hall for Men at Lawrence College blossomed forth in natty maroon sweatshirts for homecoming weekend, with the device on the shirts celebrating their prowess as movers and captors of the traditionally-peripatetic campus rock. The motto in the ersatz college crest is "We came, we saw, we captured," in the center of the crest is a likeness of the rock. The men are standing on a slight mound of earth beneath which, a couple of feet down, and embedded in cement, is their prize.

Appleton High Committee Makes Selection From 20 Juniors

Appleton High School's American Field Service Selection Committee has announced the AHS students and checked indicated candidates for the 1964 Summer abroad program. They are:

Elizabeth Borsum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Borsum, and John Schilling, son of Rev. and Mrs. Marvin Schilling.

Over 20 juniors originally applied for consideration and participated in interviews before the selection committee. This committee was a 20-member group composed of community members, faculty, former Appleton High AFS Summer Abroad students, and the AFS foreign students presently attending Appleton High.

Final selection was reached after a second interview of 12 students. Deborah Backer, Deborah Brownell, Linda Butler, Trevor Evans, Christine Fournes, Christine Huss, Carol Ann Klitzke, Nancy McBrair, Louise Nofke, Eileen Rupright, and the board of public works that the position of assistant building inspector be created, effective April 1, 1964.

Received a report that the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board will conduct a union representation election at the City Home in the near future.

Discussed informally the wage and fringe package requested for 1964 by Teamsters Local 563, which represents about 100 employees in the department of public works.

Calumet Board To Consider 1964 Budget

Adoption Will be Main Business at County Session

CHILTON — Adoption of Calumet County's 1964 budget, which totaled $896,047 in its original draft, will climax the annual county board session that opens here Monday.

The board is expected to receive an appropriation request, thereby reducing the overall budget before it is adopted. The public budget hearing is scheduled for 10 a. m. Wednesday and final approval of the spending plan has traditionally come during the afternoon session following the hearing.

Proposed Budget

Listed in the proposed budget are $733,686 for county purposes and $22,361 as the county's share of the state forestry tax.

Revenues from sources other than direct taxes have been estimated at $155,361 on the ground and 62 passing for a total of 147. They completed five of 16 passes, totaled at $321,010. This includes bids and unincumbered surplus county funds.

Left to be raised by taxes is $485,037.

Annual Tour

After the budget has been set and adopted the board will make its annual tour of county roads and highways. This is set for Thursday and generally marks the conclusion of the annual session.

Before dealing with the budget the supervisors will be asked to elect two county officers and two school committeemen. Officers whose terms expire are Highway Commissioner Arthur Schnell and Veterans Service Officer Al Hertel. Terms are for two and four years, respectively. No changes are expected.

3 Year Terms

Up for re-appointment to three year terms on the county school committee are Leonard Suttner, Hilbert, and Gilbert Schneider, route 3, Chilton.

This also is the year for salary adjustments. The board has an unofficial policy of limiting salary negotiations to the alternate years preceding the expiration of the terms of elected county officials. This ruling ap-

The City of Appleton can establish a municipal parking authority, with the state statute providing authority.

Broedrich and Froehlich.

Considerable Support

In an opinion to the common council, Broedrich explained that the state statute authorizes the establishment of a parking authority, which would be a public utility, and would be subject to the same rules and regulations as other public utilities.

Broedrich and Froehlich are the state's first parking authority. They are the only ones in the state who are not a public utility.

Broedrich explained that in 1957, La Crosse passed an ordinance which designated the board of public works as the parking utility board.

The parking utility operates the city's parking lots and is in charge of the street parking meters.

Lucky 'Breaks' Haven't Come Barker's Way

This just hasn't been that old Barker's year.

He's had the "breaks" all right — all bad.

It all came to light Friday night when Ald. E. V. Barker (11th), the common council's personnel committee chairman, announced Barker would be unable to attend the evening's proceedings.

He is a citizen member of the personnel committee.

It seems that Barker suffered a leg injury and was required to walk with a cane for several weeks.

He also contracted a sore elbow.

This week he decided to undergo surgery for the leg, counting on crutches to keep him mobile.

At the same time, the doctor opened the elbow for a look-see and the diagnosis was for the worse — some bones were chipped.

Not to be outdone by dad, who now has a leg and arm out of commission and is "grounded" when it comes to walking, one of the youngsters sprained his ankle coming home from school Friday afternoon.

And Barker had to change his plans about inviting the committee to meet at his house — a few other youngsters in the family came down with the mumps.

Barker, who resides at 1315 E. Frances St., is personnel director of the Valley Iron Works.

The utility also has a policy of paying the City of La Crosse, in lieu of taxes, the amount of real estate taxes charged against each parcel at the time it was acquired. The total amounts to about $20,000 annually.

In addition, the utility pays the city $5,000 a year for the services of the city engineer, attorney, director of public works and director of finance.

The public safety committee will take action on the proposed parking meter authority proposal when it meets next week.

Playground Fire

Appleton firemen and equipment were sent to the McKinley School playground Friday night at 9:22 to extinguish a blaze.

Firemen discovered the fire was caused by gasoline in a pop bottle thrown onto a swing set. Only damage was to a canvas seat of a swing.

The United Church Women of Neenah-Menasha observed World Community Day on Friday afternoon at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Neenah. The Rev. Alfred W. Swan, First Congregational Church of Madison, was the principal speaker; his topic was "The World That Peace Builds." Above from left are: Mrs. Tom Rosenow, general chairman, the Rev.
